

Dr. Marvin Resigns University Post; Culminates 31 Years Of Presidency

Trustees Pick Dean Colclough To Serve As Acting President

• UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT CLOYD H. MARVIN will retire January 28, the Board of Trustees disclosed last Thursday.

Dr. Marvin will be named President Emeritus and Vice Admiral O. S. Colclough, USN (ret.), dean of faculties for the past five and one-half years, will serve as acting president, the Board announced.

Dean Colclough will hold that position while the Board continues its search for a new president.

Dr. Robert V. Fleming, Chairman of the Board of Trustees said in the announcement that the Board had "regrettably acquiesced in the expressed desire" of President Marvin to be relieved of his duties. "At the earliest practicable date, convenient to the best interests of the University."

Retirement Expected

Dr. Marvin's retirement had been expected. Last March he conferred with the Board of Trustees on the subject and asked them to form a committee to confer with him on the future leadership of the University.

The Board passed a resolution paying tribute to the 69-year-old educator for his 31 years of "distinguished service" and expressed "deep regret" at the termination of his active duties at the University.

Shortly after Dr. Marvin came to the University in 1927, the HATCHET ran an article telling of his appointment. In that September 19, 1927, issue Dr. Marvin was quoted as saying, "GWU is potentially one of the greatest institutions of learning in America. Within 15 years," he said, "the University will have taken its place among the finest universities in the country."

Endowments

Under his administration, the University's endowment funds were increased from $804,000 to $7 million and the size of the faculty has nearly tripled, passing the 1000 mark.

Student enrollment has more than doubled and last year's total, during the academic year, topped 13,000.

Major buildings constructed during this time now include Lisner auditorium, the Hall of Government, building C, building D, Lisner library, Strong hall, James Monroe hall and Thompkins hall of engineering.

A half dozen other major buildings have been acquired and renovated for University use.

Academic Success

In the academic field, the Junior College was established to guide the work of freshmen and sophomores, the Graduate Council was organized to administer the work and studies leading to the Ph. D. degree, and the Division of University Students was built up to meet the needs of non-degree candidates for special courses.

In the 1930's the University, under Dr. Marvin's leadership, was placed on the approved list of the Association of American Universities, and Phi Beta Kappa, Mortar Board and Sigma Xi chapters were established.

Entrance requirements have continually raised and admission policies have expanded. Last week, in fact, the University incorporated the college board examinations into its admissions program.

Scientific Strides

President Marvin promoted development of theoretical physics, which led to establishment of the Washington Conferences on Theoretical Physics. These were sponsored annually by Carnegie Institution of Washington and the University.

The Conferences brought the world's outstanding nuclear physicist to Washington. Niels Bohr, the Copenhagen scientist, made the first announcement of the fission of atomic energy at one of these meetings, in the hall of Government.

In surveying the course of his thirty-one years at the University and the practices which have developed in that time, Dr. Marvin said last week he felt the greatest pride for "its finest tradition," that of academic freedom.

Tradition

His belief and pride in that tradition are based upon his own educational philosophy as he has expressed it over the years. "Education has been and will continue to be the means of building hope in our democratic society. Educational disciplines, assumed for democracy, will overcome the exactions of totalitarianism wherever it may be found," he once said.

More recently he has said, "In order to have creative minds, you must have free minds." And again, "Through its liberal arts program, the University seeks to foster among its students a search for the true and the good, a belief in the democratic way of life, and an acknowledgement of Eternal God."

Aids Activities

One of Dr. Marvin's first moves in promoting student freedom shortly after taking office was to remove the University newspaper, the HATCHET, from faculty control.

Dr. Marvin said his fondest memory of his many years of active service is the friendship he has shared among the faculty, the Board of Trustees, and the students.

"Dean Colclough will be as happy and gracious a person as any acting president you could find," he continued.

Campus Grounds

Viewing the University's present plan for future development and growth, Dr. Marvin said it had always been "a dream of mine"

WGW To Begin Union Programs

• WGW HAS RECEIVED the approval of the Student Union board to broadcast in the Student Union.

A series of programs scheduled to begin shortly after the first of the year marks the first attempt of the newly formed radio station to show the type and quality of that organization.

On November 21 the administration denied recognition of the proposed radio station.

Since that time WGW has been in operation as a radio workshop using the facilities of the speech department.

Union Broadcasts

The Union broadcasts will be the first step toward winning the administration's approval of the station. Stuart Gelber, the station's manager said.

According to Alan Newman, station business manager, WGW has been instructing and will continue to instruct the personnel in broadcasting techniques, setting up programs and training engineers in operating methods.

Referring to the November 21 denial of approval, Mr. Newman continued, "We believe that the administration acted in what it considered the best interests of the school and we will work to correct the faults that caused the denial."

Financial Plans

Financial plans have been carefully restudied and station officials feel they now have a plan which would assure the station monetary independence from the University.

Many local businessmen have expressed a desire to buy airtime for commercials.

"The most encouraging factor is the student support we are receiving," Mr. Newman said. "Much of it comes from the fraternities and sororities. A great amount of enthusiasm has also been expressed by the alumni."

Support

Support of the radio station has been voiced from as far away as Winona, Minnesota. Mr. Gelber stated that he had received a letter from St. Mary's college offering recommendations and support. St. Mary's is a member of an eight member college network in the midwest.

A problem which has been troubling the administration is the previous lack of assurance that the station is not under competent student leadership.

Leadership

Mr. Newman feels competent leadership is now being trained through the teaching of personnel in the workshop. A continuation of the workshop would provide a perpetual supply of trained student leaders.

The policy of the station will not be to editorialize on controversial issues or to air complaints by students. "The station is purely for the enjoyment of the student body," Mr. Newman concluded.

Management of the station is now handled by Stuart Gelber, station manager; Alan Newman, business manager; Conrad Weisert, program director; Harry Banta, technical director, and Stephannie Sills, secretary.

Local Interest

Many local news and sports broadcasters and disc jockies have volunteered to speak and aid in any of the workshops. The first of the scheduled broadcasts is Kennedy Ludlum who is heard coast to coast on the NBC network. He will be followed in the future by equally well known radio and television personalities.

WGW program director, Conrad Weisert, has planned morning, afternoon and evening shows for the Union.

The morning broadcast would consist of an opening prayer, University news and light music.

Music and sports would highlight the afternoon with the evening consisting of news, music and specialty programs. The specialties would include interviews with campus personalities, programs by school organizations and other topics of interest to the student body.

Registrar Requires New Aptitude Tests

• COLLEGE BOARD EXAMINATIONS will become a standard part of admissions policy starting next fall, the University announced last week.

The scholastic aptitude test given by the College Entrance Examination Board adds another index in evaluating a student for admission to the University, according to Harold G. Sutton, director of admissions.

Mr. Sutton said the examinations were finally adopted at the University mainly because of faculty support.

Student Section

"A fair, equitable and intelligent basis is needed in selecting a student for admission," he continued, "and the larger the criteria the better."

Results of the Board exams will not necessarily be the deciding factor in the admission of a student, he said. "Not any one single policy is sufficient in itself."

The score on the exams will be considered along with high school grades, rank in class and recommendation of the high school.

Mr. Sutton said use of the test scores is not new to the University. Students who have taken the test have sent in their grades for consideration previously.

Use of Exams

The college board exams are used by about 160 schools in the country, irrespective of size, he continued.

The exams have been used as standard policy in accepting some students in the past, he said. He cited the admission of students coming from non-accredited schools, those who had never graduated from high school.

Mr. Sutton expressed the belief that addition of the test will not greatly affect the enrollment of the University.

According to Mr. Sutton, as of last June a great percentage of high schools had as many as 30 percent of their senior students taking the exam. That was mainly in rural areas.

In city schools like Washington's, he said, it reached about 80 percent. In private schools it had reached almost 100 percent.

Georgetown university has used the tests for a number of years and American university is due to use them soon, he continued.

Applicants for the September, 1959, semester should take the tests as soon as possible, Mr. Sutton advised.

The test is given several times each year at a large number of testing centers throughout the United States.

University Settles $100 Controversy

• LONG'S RENTAL SERVICE reached a settlement in its contract dispute with the University's Homecoming committee Tuesday.

In accepting payment of $21.80 as conclusive of the dispute, the administration was settling the matter of one-half of Long's written contract with the Homecoming committee.

The contract between the two parties drawn up earlier this year stated that Long's would pay the Homecoming committee $100 and a 5 percent commission on each tuxedo rented in exchange for 1) the Homecoming committee's endorsement, 2) a place in which they might take measurements, and 3) personnel to distribute advertisements, and cover publicity.

Understanding

The contract was signed with the understanding by both parties according to Mr. Creel, homecoming co-chairman, that about 200 tuxedos could be rented if both parties "hustled."

As it turned out the number of tuxedos rented did not exceed 30. That is where the dispute started.

Mr. William Goldberg, co-owner and manager of Long's, felt that since his store was unable to come anywhere near renting 200 suits that he should not be forced to meet payment of the $100 part of the contract.

Neither the Homecoming committee or Long's could come to a settlement. As a result of the stalemate both parties concluded to take the problem to the University administration.

According to Humbert J. Cantini, assistant to the treasurer,

Mr. Goldberg wrote University treasurer, Henry Herzog, and asked that the administration not enforce payment of the contract in regard to the $100.

But if the University insisted, Long's would pay in order to avoid any ill feeling or ill publicity for both parties.

Mr. Creel termed Tuesday's action as "a reasonably fair settlement. I feel that the administration helped as much as they could have under the circumstances."

The $21.80 payment made by Long's included $.50 of the rental fee for each tuxedo and a 5 percent commission on the total amount collected by Long's.

Mr. Creel considered the settlement as reasonable on the basis of how the contract was arrived upon. The $100 figure was established, he said, with the consideration in mind that $.50 for each of the tuxedos multiplied by the expected 200 rentals would amount to that figure.

In settling, Mr. Creel stated that Long's paid only $.50 on each of the 26 tuxedos it was able to rent. That amounted to $13.00 of the $21.80 settlement. The remainder was the 5 percent commission.

Thus Mr. Creel concluded that the terms of the contract as specifically written down were not carried out. But consideration of the circumstances concerned with its drafting were followed.

He viewed the present controversy of the University's plans for the future as one colored by "a great deal of misunderstanding that is causing confusion."

But Dr. Marvin said he is convinced that in the lifetime of the students now at the University, a school with a well-selected enrollment of 35,000 students will be possible through the University's present plan of development.

As President Emeritus of the University Dr. Marvin will maintain an office on the fifth floor of the Library. He will be on hand to assist the school in any way that its faculty or the Board may ask, he said.

Plans Tour

In the spring, Dr. and Mrs. Marvin intend to go to England. Mrs. Marvin will be able to do research on a favorite subject of hers, 16th and 17th century England, and he will be able to re-orient himself in his new position, he concluded.

Dean Colclough is an alumnus of the University Law school. In 1949 he was named dean of the Law school and professor of law. In February, 1953, he became dean of faculties of the University.

He climaxed a career in the Navy as Judge Advocate General of that service before joining the University in 1949.

Education

Dean Colclough was graduated from the Naval Academy at Annapolis in 1920. In 1935, he received his doctor of laws degree from Muhlenberg college.

He holds the John Bell Larnier medal, awarded the senior in the Law school who attains the highest grade in the entire course for the Bachelor of Laws degree.

Taxpayers Fight University's Growth

• PLANS FOR DEVELOPMENT of a 19-block University campus drew vigorous fire last week from a militant West End Citizens association.

An estimated 200 members of the group, most of them "probably property owners" in the University area, according to association president Lester Steinem, met December 8 in the Western Presbyterian church to protest the program announced by University officials November 7.

Mr. Steinem charged that government agencies involved in the urban renewal program listened only to University officials and refused to co-operate with property owners and area residents.

The association hit use of the right of eminent domain "to oust American people from their homes and businesses in a rankly unjust, legally questionable and thoroughly un-American manner."

Max Farrington, assistant to the President and head of the University's redevelopment program, Sunday called the association's charges "ridiculous" and "untrue."

He said the right of eminent domain has been used to the benefit of private colleges and universities in 30 other cities, and its use has been upheld in court.

(The same figure was cited by John R. Searles, Jr., executive director of the Redevelopment Land Association, in a television interview Saturday.)

"We don't want to get into a slugging match with our neighbors," Mr. Farrington said. But he charged that the Citizens association members were "selfishly standing in the way of progress."

University Treasurer Henry W. Herzog outlined the complicated procedure by which the University plans to acquire the land it needs for expansion:

He said the University first presented the 19-block plan to the National Capital Planning Commission and the District Commissioners, asking them to approve it "in principle."

The Planning commission voted unanimously December 4 to grant such approval.

Before the commissioners give similar endorsement, they must canvas all District agencies and departments involved to determine how University development along the proposed lines will affect their operation.

Assuming that the commissioners eventually grant their approval, Mr. Herzog went on, the Redevelopment Land Agency will survey the land to be developed.

(The RLA can condemn land only on the basis of blight. It has no power to help the University directly by use of eminent domain, Mr. Searles said Saturday.)

If the RLA survey indicates sufficient reason, the agency will recommend to the Planning commission that the area be designated for urban renewal. The commission will pass the recommendation to the District Commissioners.

The commissioners will then hold a public hearing on the proposed urban renewal projects. If no significant objections are raised, it will earmark the areas for redevelopment, and the RLA will condemn the property, using the right of eminent domain.

The Redevelopment Land Agency will pay what it judges to be the fair market value for the property it takes. It will then resell the land to the University, at no loss to the taxpayers, Mr. Herzog concluded.

The particular squares in question are those designated for a law center, the block bounded by Pennsylvania Ave., H, 19th and 20th Sts., and a field house, the block between F, G, 22nd and 23rd Sts.

The entire 19-block area is bounded by Pennsylvania Ave., 19th, 24th and F Sts.

The West End Citizens association includes members from the area between the Mall and N St., as far west as the Potomac river and as far east as 15th St., Mr. Steinem said Friday.

But he said he thought the majority of those protesting against the expansion plans are residents and property owners in the area affected.

He said the association's main protest was on moral grounds. If the University goes ahead with its plans, he said, residents of the 19-block area will be "discommoded and thrown out."

"This city cannot stand any wholesale exodus like that," he said.

His words echoed those of a newspaper advertisement for the association meeting which charged that "people, young and old, would be displaced from their homes for less than the market value of their property, thereby making it extremely difficult or impossible to relocate."

Mr. Farrington, speaking for the University, said Sunday the charges were "just not true." He said the property to be purchased is appraised by independent—not government—appraisers, and the price the University pays for land is a fair one.

The University has made Foggy Bottom property more valuable simply by its location here, he said, and thus has competed against itself in increasing property values.

The property owners' idea of their land's worth is greatly exaggerated, he charged. Further, the University will purchase the property in question over a period of many years, he said. "We won't buy it all tomorrow."

The Citizens association recommended that the University abandon its present plan and build "large 10- or 12-story buildings within the confines of a 3- or 4-square block area to replace the small 3- or 4-story buildings in the center of a block."

The University has had "the best advice it can get, from well-trained, widely recognized planners, from a service and function-

Fellowships

• THE UNIVERSITY IS planning to obtain Fellowships recently established under the new National Defense Education Act.

The Fellowships will be awarded for the academic year 1959-1960. Students eligible to apply are those who will get their baccalaureate degrees in February and June. Applications must be in the Office of the Graduate Council, Bacon Hall, Room 201, before the end of January.

These Fellowships will be awarded to students with superior academic records who are considering college and university teaching as a career. The Fellowships are awarded for a three-year term the first year at $2000, the second year at $2200, and the third year at $2400, plus $400 a year for each dependent. Over the three-year period the Fellowship holders are expected to complete, or substantially complete, their work for the doctor's degree.

Students who are interested in this Fellowship program should see Professor Arthur E. Burns, Dean of the Graduate Council.

al standpoint," Mr. Farrington said Sunday.

Mr. Steinem said Friday the association didn't oppose institutions of higher learning in general or the University in particular. It objected to the location of the University, however.

"Georgetown and Catholic university and American university went to the outskirts," he said. "George Washington had the same opportunity."

Mr. Farrington called that suggestion "the most ridiculous thing I've ever heard of." He said the University serves a great purpose by its downtown location.

Mr. Steinem said further that the University, as a non-tax-paying institution, would expand at the expense of District taxpayers. The association ad backed him up, charging that the expansion program would remove "a vast amount of very valuable, multi-million dollar land . . . from the District of Columbia's rapidly shrinking tax rolls."

Mr. Farrington said he was "sick and tired of the non-tax-paying line." He said the University is the third largest contributor—behind the federal government and the tourist industry—to the economy of the city of Washington.

"What we take away in taxes we far more add to the general economy of the area," he said.

He said the association distorted the facts when it dwelt upon the University's private status. "We are a private institution rendering a public service," he said.

The University is a non-profit organization, he pointed out, and its expansion differs from "somebody grabbing land for profit."

Mr. Steinem said the Citizens association "resented the establishment of a 'hockey field' on the doorstep of a little old citizen." (Presumably he referred to the AFROT's Mitchell parade ground.)

"The person should have more right than a non-voting, non-tax-paying institution," he said.

The Association ad declared, "Our posterity would be far better served without a George Washington University if its campus needs to be built upon the ashes of the rights of Americans."

Mr. Farrington said again and again that University procedures were entirely within the law. He cited the current increase in college enrollments and predicted further increases in the future.

"Are we going to refuse to take any more students?" he asked. "If we're to expand, then we have to have land."

'58 Drive Nets 3091; Toys Select Queens

• THE CROWNING OF Snow Queens Liz McGarry and Lilly Spigel, climaxed the annual Holiday Season toy drive.

Preceding the Messiah program last evening, Student Council president, Ed Rutsch, crowned Miss McGarry, sponsored by Delta Tau Delta fraternity and Lilly Spigel, sponsored by Adams Hall. Other Snow Queen finalists presented were Bunny Johannessen, Sigma Nu; Nancy Oliver, Delta Gamma, and Anna Jirgens, Delta Zeta.

The queen was selected on the basis of the number of toys her sponsoring organization turned in.

Each toy equalled one vote, and the candidate of the group with the most toys submitted won the regal title. A total of 3,091 toys were collected. They ranged from bicycles and wagons to teddy bears and tin flutes.

Holiday Season chairman, Mary Foster, exclaimed, "It's too good to be true. I had no idea that the turnout would be so huge!"

Miss Foster gave this tabulation of the two winners: Delta Tau Delta winner of Greek competition, 761; and Adams Hall, winner of organizational competition 373.

Approximately 125 toys will be distributed at the Holiday Season committee's annual orphan's parties in Welling Hall, Strong Hall, and Building J tomorrow. The remainder will be donated to the WRC Dollhouse in a radio presentation tomorrow. Miss Foster, Gayle Cook, toy drive chairman; and Snow Queens Liz McGarry and Lilly Spigel will represent the University. Radio personality Ed Walker will accept the toys on behalf of the Dollhouse.

After the crowning ceremonies, the School of Engineering made their annual presentation of the Christmas tree.

The reading of the Christmas story by Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo set the stage for the traditional Handel's Messiah by the Traveling Troubadours, the Air Force Singing Sergeants and the United States Air Force Band.

The final event on the Holiday Season calendar will be the Christmas service at the Presbyterian church at 1906 H st. from 12:10 until 12:40 p.m. tomorrow. Dr. Sizoo will be the main speaker and Christmas carols will be sung by the Glee club.

Hornbeck Cites U.S. Policy For Formosa

• "WITHIN NOT TOO many years, the Chinese mainland and Formosa will be ruled by one government," stated Dr. Stanley Hornbeck, guest speaker of the Internationals Relations club, December 3.

Dr. Hornbeck, one-time Foreign Service officer, discussing "Future for Formosa," said, "Both the Nationalists and the Communists want to control the whole of China. It might be one or the other, or maybe an entirely new government replacing the present two."

"The people who condemn United States action concerning the off-shore islands," warned Dr. Hornbeck, "are giving little thought to Formosa. Since 1949 Communist China has said again and again that they must and will take Formosa."

Quemoy Vital
"Quemoy," remarked Dr. Hornbeck, "is vital because it represents that little bit of China that is still in the hands of the Nationalist Chinese. The loss of Quemoy would be a loss of morale. It could cause the people of Formosa to agree with what the Reds have long been telling them. 'Why fight? You will never get back on the mainland.'"

The odd-day shelling of Quemoy by the Communist Chinese was described by Dr. Hornbeck as "like brain-washing. The Reds like to keep their victims alive. They beat him one day, and give him one day to recuperate. Then the beating starts all over again."

During the questioning period, a question was raised concerning the possibility of a revolution in Communist China. Dr. Hornbeck's answer related that a dormitory system was being used to house the people of the mainland. One dormitory is for men, one for women, and another for the children, who are educated by the Communist state. If the military, which is composed primarily of native Chinese were ever to become tired of this family abuse, "anything could happen," he concluded.

G.W. Attends I.F.C. Meeting

• WILLIAM BEIFORD, Sigma Nu, and Ben Prager, Tau Epsilon Phi, represented the George Washington University at the National Interfraternity Conference meeting in Atlanta, December 4, 5, and 6.

"The conference concluded that the fraternity system is moving into a period of maturity," according to Belford. "The individual fraternities are evaluating themselves and taking action to eliminate the causes for criticism."

Throughout the conference, incentive was given to the fraternity men by an interesting array of speakers. Dr. George F. Baughman, vice-president, New York University, expressed his feeling that educators are beginning to realize the true value of the fraternity system and the valuable assistance the fraternity system can be to the administrations of various schools.

The workshop aspect of the conference included six panel discussion periods. The panels covered ideals, scholarship, IFC organization and operation, rushing, pledge training and Greek Week. Leaders in the fraternity and collegiate world were members of these panels and took part in the discussion. John J. Pershing, associate dean of students, Georgia Tech; William S. Zerman, dean of men, Ohio Wesleyan; William Cross, assistant to dean of men, University of Michigan, and Joseph D. Boyd, dean of men, Northwestern University were among the more noted.

Students Go To Confab

• "I WAS CONFRONTED with more information about the world at the Student Conference on United States affairs than I ever had been before in any similar four-day period," Vicki Powers, one of the University's delegates to the conference, said last week.

The conference, held December 3 to 6 at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, centered around the theme of the "East-West Struggle for the Middle Billion."

The "middle billion" in this instance represented the uncommitted peoples of the world, those who live in underdeveloped colonial-type areas.

Convention
"Through concentrated effort, serious discussion, and elbow-rubbing, I learned about Africa, U. S. foreign policy, and people in general," Miss Powers said.

An impressive array of speakers greeted the delegates at the plenary sessions held each evening. Keynoting the meeting was Christian Herter, undersecretary of State. Herter's topic dealt with the problems of U. S. National Security policy.

Guests
Panel discussions on policies and problems for survival and formulation of national security policy featured such figures as Dr. Isidore I. Rabi, Nobel Prize winner for physics in 1944; Congressman Peter Frelinghuysen (R-N.J.), member of the House Foreign Affairs committee, and James Hagerty, press secretary to President Eisenhower.

Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of the Council on Foreign Relations, was banquet speaker.

The general objectives of the conference were to scrutinize U. S. foreign policy in the major areas of the world and to make certain specific recommendations.

This was done by first dividing the delegates into several panels encompassing six major topic areas: Moscow-Peking, East Asia, South and Southeast Asia, Middle East and North Africa, Africa south of the Sahara, and Latin America.

Mrs. Bowers Invites Students To Benefit

• UNIVERSITY STUDENTS HAVE received an invitation to the 31st annual Bower Family Christmas party to be given at 8:00 p.m. Friday at the Hotel Statler.

Price of admission is a toy for a child for a poor family. Thousands of such children in the Washington area will receive gifts of toys and clothes as the result of the party.

Alex Heslin, Bill Frank and Craig Fox have headed an informal student group assisting the Bowers Family Christmas party by collecting toys and inviting students to attend.

Entertainment

The Washington Variety club has arranged a special entertainment by nationally-known radio, television and theatrical stars and singers, amateurs and other entertainers. There will also be dancing.

The children will not attend the party in person, but many of their benefactors will be present. More than 1,200 persons attended last year's party.

This Christmas party has been held annually since 1927 by Mrs. Harry "Gay" Bowers. She and her late husband and their three daughters formerly resided in Washington.

Beginnings

From a small beginning in the Bowers home when, to teach their children the real meaning of Christmas, Mr. and Mrs. Bowers inspired them to share their Christmas gifts with less fortunate children, the party has grown to the use of large hotel facilities to accommodate the many well-wishers contributing toys.

Founder of the Bowers Family Christmas party is Mrs. Bowers, the former Cecilia Elizabeth Coupe, member of an old Washington family.

Mrs. Bowers is secretary of the Hattie M. Strong foundation, which grants loans to college students and performs other philanthropies. Her offices in the Cafritz Building are jammed with thousands of dolls, games, bicycles and other toys that friends have sent for distribution this Christmas.

Review Ends ROTC Drills

• THE 140TH AIR FORCE ROTC group of the University held its parade and review ceremony for the fall semester at West Potomac Park last Wednesday.

The four cadet squadrons and the Angel Flight passed in review before AFROTC inspectors who were visiting the detachment. The parade and review ceremony brought to a close the cadet groups drill activity for the semester.

Cadet Lt. Col. Frederick R. Strub, the group's cadet commander, was awarded the Chicago Tribune Gold ROTC Medal, for high ideals of leadership and scholastic excellence.

Awards Given
Cadet A/2C Andrejs Jaunrubenis was presented with the Chicago Tribune Silver ROTC Medal, for outstanding leadership potential and excellent scholastic standing in the University.

Seven cadets were awarded National Rifle Association Qualifying Medals. Expert medals were presented to Cadet Airmen Louis J. Boezi, Thomas C. Marshall, and Jon R. Moore.

Sharpshooter medals went to Cadet Airmen John A. Parker and Richard E. Oden. Marksmen medals were awarded to Cadet Airmen Robert E. Evinger and Ronald A. Newman.

Cadet Major Arnold L. Snyder and Cadet Lt. Col. Frederick R. Strub received the Distinguished AFROTC Cadet award for qualities of leadership, high moral character and aptitude for military service.

Do You Think for Yourself? (HERE'S A TEST THAT WILL TELL YOU!*)

1. If the salaries were equal, would you rather be a college professor than a movie star?

YES ☐ NO ☐

5. Do you believe it unwise to eat at irregular hours, even though you're hungry?

YES ☐ NO ☐

2. Would you rather borrow money from a bank or institution than from a friend?

YES ☐ NO ☐

6. If you actually saw a "flying saucer" land, would you run for your life?

YES ☐ NO ☐

3. Would you rather have tests sprung on you than be warned about them in advance?

YES ☐ NO ☐

7. Would you be inclined to follow the latest style in clothes regardless of how it looked to you?

YES ☐ NO ☐

4. Do you think it's foolish to daydream?

YES ☐ NO ☐

8. Would you feel badly if you thought nobody at all knew where you were?

YES ☐ NO ☐

9. Are you confused by the clamor of conflicting claims so many filter cigarettes are making these days?

YES ☐ NO ☐

The fact is, thinking men and women don't let themselves get pushed and pulled by all those filter claims. They know what they want in a filter cigarette. And they know only VICEROY gives it to them. A thinking man's filter, a smoking man's taste. Makes sense.

Should you smoke VICEROY? If you think for yourself—chances are you do already!

*If you have answered Yes to two out of the first three questions, and No to five out of the last six... you think for yourself!

President Marvin

• THE HATCHET would like to take this opportunity to express its sincere admiration and deep respect for President Cloyd H. Marvin at the termination of his thirty-one years of service to The George Washington University. For thirty-one years President Marvin has worked with and for the students and the faculty to make the University what it is today.

When President Marvin came to the University in 1927 it was a small and not fully accredited school. At that time he was quoted as saying, "Within fifteen years the University will have taken its place among the finest universities in the country." Today our University is accredited on the same basis as are the other great universities of our nation. During President Marvin's administration enrollment has tripled, University endowments have increased nine and one-half times and actual physical properties, such as buildings, have increased almost 18 times.

In the academic field, the Junior College was established to guide the work of freshmen and sophomores, the Graduate Council was organized to administer the work and studies leading to the Ph.D degree, and the Division of University Students was built up to meet the needs of non-degree candidates for special courses.

President Marvin has expressed a great pride for the University's "finest tradition," that of academic freedom. And he has been the guiding spirit behind that tradition. He has shown this in the things that he stands for: "Through its liberal arts program, the University seeks to foster among its students a search for the true and good, a belief in the democratic way of life, and an acknowledgement of Eternal God."

President Marvin has always been a firm believer in student freedom. One of his first moves in promoting this freedom after taking office was to remove the HATCHET from faculty control.

Viewing the University's present plan for future development and growth, President Marvin said it has always been his "dream" to have a campus and a University "worthy of the Nation's Capital." He is convinced that in the lifetime of the students now at the University, a school with a well-selected enrollment of 35,000 students will be possible through the University's present plan of development.

When the redevelopment plan is realized the University will include a 19-block campus spread. The plan provided for the closing of H and 21st streets; the establishing of a law center and field house and engineering, science and medical centers. The conversion of several privately owned apartment buildings into dormitories and rooming facilities and an enclosed garage space consisting of a basement and four or five stories to provide space for three thousand automobiles are also included in the plans.

The plan also envisions keeping most of the existing campus buildings built for University purposes and the removing of the present Student Union, city firehouse and Grant school, all now fronting on G street. Other points are the removal of all commercial buildings along the south side of Pennsylvania avenue from Washington Circle to 19th street to provide "a proper setting for a fine visual approach to the University," according to the plan.

As President Emeritus of the University President Marvin will maintain an office on the fifth floor of the Library where he will be on hand to assist the school in any way that its faculty or Board of Trustees may ask.

We could never express fully the appreciation we have for the many things Dr. Marvin has provided us. It has been President Marvin's spirit that has given our University the best in faculty, equipment and classroom teaching, which gives us loyal and generous alumni, a devoted faculty and student body, and the inspiration to grasp the ideas which are put before us and make them our own academic standards.

For his spirit which has guided us we will always be thankful. Our University and all that we have found here, our freedom of expression and of acquiring knowledge, will always remain an integral part of our lives.

• AT A MEETING of the West End Citizens Association held Monday, G.W. Student opinion was interpreted as unfavorable to the University's Redevelopment Program which would add a campus atmosphere to the University.

Do you as a student feel that this is the general feeling in behalf of the student body?

DON WILLEY: "I hardly disagree with the interpretation of student opinion made by the Association. The prevailing feeling among the student body is greatly in favor of the expansion program. Besides providing a more extensive educational plant it would serve the useful purpose of clearing out many undesirable buildings that now surround the university. I don't feel that the long planned University expansion program is an encroachment on the basic rights of the property holders."

MIKE TAYLOR: "Upon reading of the Monday night meeting in the paper, my friends and I all agreed that G.W. student opinion had been sorely misrepresented if it was the West End Citizens Association's true feelings that most of us are against the expansion program. For myself, I only hope for a speedy fulfillment of the plan."

DICK WILLIS: "Most certainly not! The students of the university are the greatest advocates of the proposed expansion plan. I am curious as to where the West End Citizens Association received their erroneous information. A campus for G.W. would also be a great asset to the nation's Capitol. The sooner we get it, the better."

BILL TALENTINO: "No, I can't see why any student would be unfavorable to the University's Redevelopment Plan, for a campus atmosphere is one of the strongest selling points a university can have. I am sure that every student strongly favors expanding our campus."

TOM COLEMAN: "Any thinking student, realizing that the advancement of his college will aid him after he has left it, would be in favor of the expansion. The opinion of the student body seems to be expressed by a few proclaimed experts that must be members of the same clik. Any truly representative opinion of the student body would require more thought than the experts are capable of. The students with whom I have talked are definitely in favor of a program of this sort which will improve the University."

ADELAIDE BATES: "On the contrary, I think the G.W. students are quite definitely in favor of the Program, and this is as it should be, for this program is designed to improve the University."

ERNEST AUERBACH: "The Citizens Association's opinions reflect its members' desire to maintain their homes in the face of relocation as University development advances. I doubt whether the West End Citizens really believe the student body opposes redevelopment or that the Association will base its opposition to redevelopment on this ground."

ED RUTSCH: "This entire West End group is backed by people who once brought in a slum which has been gradually changed into desirable land by the government, George Washington and Foggy Bottom Land Development. Now a few who would stand to gain start a cry in the name of their citizens' rights. What, I wonder, did they do to help tenants and properties when it was a slum. They probably only had interest in picking up the rent."

ELDON MILLER: "I believe that, in general, the citizens of West End have misinterpreted the opinions of the George Washington students. However, there are loopholes in the Redevelopment Program as it was last presented. I don't believe that a true campus atmosphere can be created until a fraternity (and sorority) row is provided for; further centralization should be provided."

Navy Junior's Travel Spans United States

• A PHILADELPHIA BORN Navy junior who is one of the most active Greeks on campus is our guest this week—Nancy Oliver.

Since her father is in the Navy, Nancy has had ample opportunity to travel. And travel she has, from coast to coast and through Europe. She graduated from high school in Paris and returned to the States shortly afterwards. By this time her family was stationed in Washington, so naturally Nancy chose to matriculate at Washington's finest—G.W.U. Although her family is now in Hawaii, she liked the University so much that she decided to stay behind.

At present, Nancy is the president of the Delta Gamma Sorority and the Inter-Sorority Athletic Board, first vice-president of Big Sis, and a member of Delphi. This month she was elected to Who's Who. Her biggest project now, states Nancy is "finding a solution to the Greek housing situation." Her suggestion is "one great big Pan-hel house for all, but we just can't seem to agree."

As a freshman Nancy sang in the Messiah Chorus. In her sophomore year, she played in "Girl Crazy" and also lead Delta Gamma to third place in the 1957 Panhel sing. "This was my crowning achievement," she added. However, she does advise that freshman put off their plunge into activities until their second semester.

For hobbies, Nancy busies herself with knitting sweaters—Attention G. W. gentlemen—here's your chance! Also she "simply loves to travel." In fact she flew to California for Christmas last year, and goes to Vermont when the ski-bug bites her. This summer her hobbies will include surf boarding and uke playing.

With all these activities, Nancy has managed a 2.9 G.P.I. and is a scholarship holder. An accounting major, she chose her field on the grounds that it's "easy." That's not the way we heard it.

For the time being, Nancy will continue working in the office of

NANCY OLIVER

Congressman John Leiniski (Democrat of Michigan). Her plans for the future, after graduation next June, will include one of two things. As she puts it "I'll either work as a certified public accountant in the District and study law, or I'll fly to Hawaii" where, we suspect, she will do her accounting on the beaches of Waikiki.

IFPC Plans New Program

• THE SECOND REORGANIZATIONAL meeting of the Interfraternity Pledge Council was held in the Hatchet office last Monday. Election of temporary officers was the first order of business and Andy Hans, the representative of the TEKE pledge class, was elected temporary president. Larry Corn, representative of SAE pledge class was elected temporary secretary-treasurer.

John McNett of SAE's pledge class, the chairman of the constitution committee for the IFPC, said that the purpose of the IFPC will be "to promote proper interfraternity relationships at the pledge level; provide an introduction to democratic group participation; lend service actively and morally to the University; and provide a means for capable leaders and idea-men in the various pledge classes to demonstrate their potential." Discussion was held, on these points.

Great hopes are expressed by the present members that the IFPC will demonstrate to the student body and the University that it can become just as active and creative as Junior-Panhellene Association.

The members of the IFPC believe that a group project, of a different nature than the Goat Show of Jr. Panhel, would supply unity and cooperation. Ideas such as a Work Day at the University, where member pledge classes of the IFPC would contribute time and energy to the improvement of the University, were suggested.

The IFPC has been part of the University for a number of years, but due to the absence of self perpetuation, the council would disband as the members were initiated into their fraternities. A special article on self-perpetuation is expected to be incorporated into the constitution. "Unless we can allow the Council to remain a permanent part of the University, the pledge council of future years will encounter unnecessary problems and errors which could be ironed out now and should have been ironed out previously," stated Mr. McNett. Wasteful time was spent in this

by Ralph Young

• TRAVEL HAS BECOME one of today's most popular extracurricular activities for college students. This summer 800 collegians will participate in programs offered by the U. S. National Student Association's Educational Travel, Inc., 701 Seventh Avenue, New York 36, New York, a non-profit organization providing budget tours to Europe ranging from $749.

Each student going abroad with USNSA is part of an international student community. The programs are arranged by students, for students, with European guides who are university students familiar with their country's art, history, music, and good buys.

Throughout Europe, contact with the foreign student is made both formally and informally. The USNSA traveler spends many evenings chatting with foreign students in restaurants, cafes, or cafes, also taking advantage of invitations to overseas homes for coffee and dinner. This contact produces a mutual exchange of viewpoints, making the American student an informal "diplomat."

On board ship there is an orientation program including accelerated language classes and lectures on art, history, music, and political science. Added to the classroom activity of ship-board life, is a nightly dance and daily movie and sports for the 500 students on the ship.

USNSA travel stresses both the educational and adventurous. Students traveling with the National Student Association select a few countries to visit thoroughly. Most of the sightseeing is done in the morning, leaving the student enough free time for shopping and individual exploration.

year's reorganization, he concluded.

A third reorganization meeting was held yesterday at which many of the problems were discussed and solved.

A COLD WEEK-END, one would say? Not too cool for those redhot Colonials of ours. Two victories last week! Good show!

Nor was it too cold for the Sigma Chis who celebrated things right by crowning a new Sweetheart of Sigma Chi. Cute and vivacious Jan Baldauf, Kappa Alpha Theta, was dubbed for the honor. Jan was escorted by Bob Sneed, new vice-president, and was serenaded appropriately by the brothers assembled in the Empire Room of the Ambassador Hotel for the occasion. Sigs and dates present included Tom Varley and Kappa Marby Adams, Sweetheart of 1958 (and forever), Hal Bergem and Kappa Carolyn McKnight, Dave Bernhiesel and DG Lynn Larin, Don Cavanaugh and Peachy Little, J. P. Donley and Patty Mann, Bill Fearer and Julie Smith, Chuck Harklerod and Nancy Cooper, Denis Jacques and Barbara Davis, Larry Carone and Kappa Liz Silliphant, Al Baker and Ann Taylor, Rich Brown and Jan Thomas, Lin DeVicchio and Theta D. A. Thornton, Wright Horne and Kappa Bay Carter, Dave Tuerck and AEPH Mimi Rosenberg, John Bruce and ZTA Arlene Kevorjian, Mike Sullivan and ZTA Lucy Boyd, Bryan Williams and Kappa Betty O'Horo, Carl Zaleski and Kay Duncan, Ric Hardcock and Kappa Carol Briggs, and Tom Huestis and ZTA Dottie Nelson.

Those currently out of circulation but still on hand for the Sweetheart dance were Carl and Betty Washenko, John and Donna Drew, Don and Barbara Herman, Chuck and Mary McGswain, chapter adviser Bob McGrath and Carlene, and retiring chapter adviser and winner of the outstanding alum award, Chet McCall and Carol.

The Pi Beta Phi pledge formal, preceded by a great party at Faye Motyka's, was held Saturday at the Dupont Plaza. Among the couples were Judy Franks and Jim Harrison, Le Anne Wagner and Pike Bruce Aabel, Margo Cheney and Sigma Nu Dale Hudson, Mary Hartel and Russ Bardos, Miriam Wondrack and Bob Lewis, Machin Smith and Haines McDaniels, Dawn Detwiler and Dale, Mary Mount and Walt, Marty and Gus, Betty and Ricky (we presume that most of these people have last names), Jill Zell and Mike, June and Elvir, Tania and Pete, and Jan and Larry.

Still more included Bonnie Borden and Pike Lee Jameson, Liz Dittenhafer and Roger Clowes, Gloria Farkas and Pike Ed Rutsch, Elaine Lam and Dick Spradlin, Bobbie O'Neill and AEPH Burt Kaplan, Kay Palle and Bill Cartwright, and Terry Root and Pike Mike Gallagher. Afterwards, the Pi Phi troops filed out (those that could find the way) to Dawn Detwiler's for one of those after-dance parties.

The Chi Omegas had their annual pledge formal on December 6. Fun started with a cocktail party at Clare Calvert's house. The dance was held at the Annapolis Hotel and the music was provided by the Starlanders and Elaine Mosel's "beau," Lenny Metallo, sang.

As the pledges came through the horseshoe they were presented with flowers by their dates and announced by Judy Wilson, pledge trainer: Vivian Allnutt and Bob Moncure, Annette Bailey and SAE Jett McNett, Gail Coakley and SAE Tony Dold, Ellen Cassidy and Phi Sig Ted Garner, Rose Cordray and Jack Austin, Annette Hatch and Tom Moran, Sydney Sue Houston and Don Mulgannon, Marty Hurd and SAE Eddie Dyson, Pat Martin and Johnny Bouquet, Cathy Maler and "Pike" Louie Hoellman, Pat Millsbaugh and Delt Bill Peeples, Ann Morgan and Dick Eastlack, Marlene Sesso and SAE Duke Brannock, and Lynne Transtrum and Delt John Whiting.

Kappa Kappa Gamma announces the engagement of Janice Powers to Sig Ep Ted Taylor, graduate of Dennison University and a current student at American U. law school. By the way, the wedding is Dec. 27. This presents a crisis in certain quarters. You see, this will leave Morna Campbell, KKG, Home C Qu (ret.), roommateless. But Morna has met this problem head-on, and her solution is a dandy one. Shortly after the New Year, Morna will have petitions for a new roommate available in the Student Activities office. Applicants must be male, the possessor of a hi-fi set, and extremely talented in the art of cooking. Anyone interested?

Barbara Gurrey, KD, was crowned Miss Model Pledge Saturday at the Phi Sigma Kappa house. Phi Sig pledges Knute Fenstad, Alan May, Don Pavony, and Bart Crivella did a fine job in conducting the model pledge affair. The punch prepared by Dick Ross kept the brothers and honored guests at ease. Once again, Hain Swope came through with a terrific combo that gave forth with some swinging music. All in all it was a perfect way to start the holidays and the partying continued, long after Barbara was crowned.

Chi Omega announces the pinning of Mary Duncan to Jimmy Mooney, TKE from Shepherd College, and Pat Martin to Pete Lynn, VPI. But that's not all! The girls of the X and the horseshoe, made known the engagements of Marie Tyler to 2nd Lt. Bill U'Ren, USMCR, Joan Darby to Dubby Moore, SN from Md., and Fanita Bartoo to SAE Dick Martin.

Friday night the Deltas had their annual Christmas party at the home of Theta Bobbie Lohnes, who started the evening off by getting pinned to Delt Bill Smythe. The evening was highlighted by an appearance of Santa Claus as portrayed by Mike Adams and a group singing of every Christmas carol ever written. Among those enjoying the dancing and the Christmas "cheer," concocted by pledges Dave Johnston and Tom Haley, were Sandy Morrison and Kappa Andy Brown, Tim Mead and Kappa Anne Marie Sneeringer, Steve Ridgeway and DG Rolly Boucher, Bill Ellbeck and Theta Mimi Sildell, Will Hinely and Theta Gail Shaver, John Calarco and Kappa Pat Gilliam, and, of course, Archie Fields and date DG Beth Oliver, who insisted on decorating each other with the party's decorations.

Last Friday afternoon there was a triple celebration at Acacia. The 25th anniversary of prohibition's end, the new fraternity flag, and the coming-out of Acacia's sweetheart, Lynne McMorris, brought Ak-Aks and campus folk streaming into the Acacia house. At one point in the afternoon the crowd was so great that the blonde-about-campus, Sue Welles, couldn't get in the front door. Before the first keg was finished, our reporter spotted student council prexy Ed Rutsch and Chi O's Joni Phelias, Lee Russell, and Carolyn Tucker gathered around ye olde Sand Bar. Also seen in the basement were Bill Stuart, Marcia Thomas, Barbara Gurry, Marty Mitchell, Bill Smythe, Gordon Johnson, and Vicky Siells. Seen gathered about the piano later in the afternoon were SK Gretchen von Rosenberg, Lynne McMorris, Ross Heasley, Afsansi Sephapour, and Skyscraper Bob.

Saturday, the SAEs ushered in the Yule season with a tree-decorating party. Seen lighting up were Jack Williams (who successfully instigated a turn away from the rock and roll elements by enlightening the crowd with a few new sounds, which includ-

Unitarian Club

• THE NEWLY FORMED University Unitarian club has received full faculty approval and joined the Religious Council.

The club will hold its second meeting at 9:00 p.m. tonight in building O.

Faculty adviser for the new club is Dr. William E. Schmidt, associate professor of chemistry.

Newly elected officers are Lynn F. Fischer, president; Roderick J. Macintosh, vice-president; Karen G. Jamison, secretary; Wanda A. Gartner, program chairman, and John H. Geerken, representative at-large.

Meetings

The club is open to all those of the Unitarian faith. It expects to meet January 6 at 9:00 p.m. and twice each month next semester.

With the addition of the Unitarian group, there are now ten organized religious groups on campus. All of these are represented on the Religious Council.

Budget Hearing

• BUDGET HEARING FOR the '59-'60 year will be held on Thursday, December 18 at 1:30 p.m. in Miss Virginia Kirkbride's office in Woodhull house.

ed Oscar Peterson, MJQ, Miles, etc.) and Joyce Baggett, Eddie Dyson and Julie Anderson, Dave French and DG Mary McKee (we think, but ask Jett), Duke Brannock and Chi O Marlene Sesso, Tony Dold and Chi O Gail Coakley, Jerry Powers and Kappa Margie Weiss, and Pete Spear and DG Judy Crumlish. Also sharing the cheer was Red Jenkins and Oscar Robertson, Jack and Margie Edmondson, and Dave Fiddler and unknown friend.

Big party week-end, one would say. Others included the pledge party at the TEP house featuring Harold Bornstein and Francis Scott Key Zipern performing the TEP national dance; the holiday party at the KA house featuring Hiram Walker Heslin; and the GW fan club meeting at the Sigma Nu house.

But lament, lament! Mysteries around campus: Who sends little brown mice disguised as corsages to Betsy Evans? And who do you suppose it was that called Madison Hall at 4:00 Sunday morning, and asked if it was the Salvation Army?

Well, homeward bound, while you're pondering over those two, manage to have a very Merry Christmas and drink a cup of kindness yet to your dear old Aunt Hester, who wishes you all the very best for 1959.

Barbara Gurrey, KD Chosen Model Pledge

by ALLAN MAY

• MISS BARBARA GURREY of Kappa Delta Sorority was selected Miss Model Sorority Pledge at the Third Annual Phi Sigma Kappa Model Pledge Contest last Saturday evening. Ann Kellog of Kappa Alpha Theta placed second and Kathy Locker of Alpha Delta Pi was chosen as third place representative.

The contest was sponsored by the Phi Sigma Kappa pledges in cooperation with Marlboro Cigarette Company.

Each sorority was represented by its three most outstanding pledges. The girls were judged "on personality, poise, intelligence, and appearance." The judges were Miss Bernice Wneek, feature writer for The Evening Star Newspaper, Miss Jean Gerveis, chief modeling consultant for the Phyllis Bell Modeling School, and Dr. William "Fishbait" Miller, who is Chief of Protocol and Doorkeeper of The House of Representatives and the Representative of the President of The United States before Congress.

Phi Sig pledge, Don Pavony presented the seven finalists. They were: Delta Gamma, Judy Crum-lish; Kappa Kappa Gamma, Joyce Ormsby; Pi Beta Phi, Sylvia Schooler; Chi Omega, Marlene Sesso; and the three winners. Dr. "Fishbait" Miller announced the winners and Phi Sigma Kappa Pledge President, Knute Fenstad, crowned Miss Model Pledge and presented the winners with trophies and bouquets of roses.

Among the highlights of the evening was the presentation of a TV set to TEP fraternity, winner of the Marlboro Cigarette Box Top Contest. Mr. Ken Wilson, Marlboro District Manager, and Mr. Bart Crevella, Marlboro Student Representative, made the presentation.

Music for the dance given in honor of the sorority pledges was provided by a combo led by Phi Sig Hain Swope. The Phi Sig pledges served punch and hors d'oeuvres.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

IN ADDITION TO REGULAR TEACHING ASSIGNMENTS—ALL FACULTY MEMBERS ARE EXPECTED TO SPONSOR A CLUB.

Richmond's No. 34 doesn't quite know who to follow. The Colonials won handily 91-67 for their first Southern Conference victory.

The 4-door 9-passenger Kingswood with rear-facing back seat and automatic rear window

Be our guest for a pleasure test . . .

THIS IS THE ONE FOR WAGONS! 1959 CHEVY

Chevrolet's five stunning new station wagons for '59 are shaped to the new American taste with fresh, fine Slimline design. And they're beautifully practical—with roomier, quieter Bodies by Fisher, an even smoother ride, new ease of handling!

Wagons were never more beautiful or dutiful. From low-set headlights to wing-shaped tailgate, these '59 Chevrolets are as sweet looking as anything on wheels. They're just about the handiest things on wheels, too—from their overhead-curving windshield to their longer, wider load platform. Besides additional cargo space, you also get added seating room (4 inches more in front, over 3 inches in back). And you'll find such other practical advantages as new easy-ratio steering, Safety Plate Glass all around, bigger, safer brakes, smoother-than-ever Full Coil suspension and a roll-down rear window (electrically operated as standard equipment on the 9-passenger Kingswood). Your dealer's waiting now with all the details on why this year—more than ever—Chevy's the one for wagons.

Educators Look At Marriage; Ask: Romance Or Calculation?

• ROMANCE AND CONFORMITY dominate college campuses around the country. Mars Hill College, North Carolina; In response to criticisms from visitors leaving the University Union, the residents of Alice Prout hall have been asked to stop kissing their dates at the main door of the residence hall.

The dean of women stated in an interview that each year there are a number of criticisms directed toward some of the displays of affection that occur on the steps of the women's residence halls when the women are returning from dates. "Usually the residents themselves, through corridor meetings, etc., decide what will be accepted as good taste when a man and woman return to the hall," the dean said, "but as the house board at Prout was not in operation and as there were several examples of extremely bad taste in displays of affection, the ruling came from the dean of women and the house mother.

DAILY TEXAN: More tears and greater ecstasy are possible where marriages are based on romantic love. Dr. William J. Goode, Columbia university sociology professor, said.

He said that where romantic love is involved emotions can become very intense; and today people in more and more countries are marrying for romantic love rather than by family arrangement.

The people of the United States tend to believe that social changes occur very rapidly," Dr. Goode stated, "but that is not the case. Social change must take place over several generations."

All marriage systems are basically market systems, and even though countries are moving toward love as a marriage basis, it does not necessarily follow that they will continue in that direction.

VALPARAISO UNIVERSITY: "Don't marry for love." This was some of the startling advice given by Reverend Armin C. Oldson in this talk entitled "Planning for a Happy Marriage." He said that love is no assurance of a happy marriage; people fall in love for silly reasons and get divorced for sillier ones. Oldson gave the example of the man who fell in love with the sparkle in a girl's eyes, but when he married her he found that it was only the sun shining through holes in her head.

When you marry you can expect to live with that person for an average of forty-nine years. The success or failure of your marriage will have a profound effect on your job, your outlook and on your children and their married life.

Reverend Oldson pointed out that though marrying across racial, educational and cultural lines makes adjustment difficult, young people shouldn't think that they must have all their ideas and interests alike. Couples who can be flexible and rational in their thinking can learn to appreciate each other's tastes and in so doing broaden their own interests.

Grandpa had only about ten girls from whom to choose his bride and all of them had the same type of life and education as he did. But today's young man has many different types of girls from which to choose. When he has found the perfect one, he kisses her good-bye in the morning and goes to the office—and looks at his secretary all day.

Debaters Win

• UNIVERSITY DEBATE for the second consecutive year went undefeated at the Temple University Novice Debate Tournament, December 6, in Philadelphia. The two novice teams, all freshmen, argued the national intercollegiate debate topic, "Resolved: That further development of nuclear weapons should be abolished by international agreement." Myron Gessner and Alan May supported the affirmative side of the question while William Fritchard and Carl Prout argued for the negative. Teams representing 53 schools were present at the tournament. University debaters topped teams from Brooklyn College, Dickinson College, St. John's College and the University of Maryland. Debate coach Edwin L. Stevens, associate professor of speech, accompanied the teams to the tournament.

Another factor working against marriage is the artificiality of courtship. Young couples go out and have fun together but that is all. They have no idea of how each other will react in the face of trouble. He thought that if he were looking for a wife he would like to have his car break down so that he would be late for his first date and see how she would react. He would like to have a chance to size up her family. He figures if her mother is a messy housekeeper she will probably be the same way; if she is mean to her little brother, chances are she will try to henpeck her husband.

He advised the girls to notice how a fellow is around the house. If he is lazy and just "takes up space" at home and school she can bet he will do the same when he is married. He said girls should look for a man who is ambitious, mature, and considerate.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA: Doctors Wesley Robb and Newton Mettessel told a group of women students that the average college student can not make up his mind. Furthermore, whenever he is forced to submit to change he is too timid to act independently and must seek the confines of a group. The doctors said that a woman shouldn't dodge issues by getting married. The Doctor's conclusions were that the unfortunate characteristics of the college student are casualness and conformity.

Buff Cagers Subdue Hoyas, Spiders

Hoyas Bow 82-75; Bash, Guarillia Shine

• THE GEORGE WASHINGTON basketball team came from behind to defeat a spunky Georgetown five 82-75 before a capacity crowd at Georgetown's McDonough Gymnasium.

Sparked by the offensive and defensive play of Howie Bash and Gene Guarillia the Colonials won their second straight victory and now have a 2-1 record. Bash was not only high man with 21 points, but he held Georgetown's hot shot, "Puddy" Sheehan, to a mere 13 points, three of which were made from the free throw line. Guarillia helped the Colonial cause with 10 points, but his major contribution was his strength at the backboards.

In the first half the Colonials looked as though they might run away with the game, but the speedy Hoyas held on. At one point the Colonials held an 18-8 lead, and later were ahead 38-31. However, by halftime the Hoyas had whittled the Buff lead to three points, 40-37.

GU Takes Lead

After a seesaw battle in the first minute of the second half Georgetown took a 53-52 lead. G. W.'s Bill Telasky tied it up with a free throw, but the Hoyas then took a 55-53 lead with a field goal. The Buff again tied the score as Ralph Kunze sank two free throws.

The battle seesawed for another four minutes, but GU pulled ahead 63-59. G. W. once more pulled even as Bucky McDonald sank two free throws and Ben Bash took the rebound from Guarillia for another two points.

Both teams now sensed victory, and both squads were hot. First the Hoyas would score, then the Colonials would hit to tie the score. Finally the Buff stopped a Hoya drive and pulled ahead.

McDonald Intercepts

In a key play G.W.'s McDonald reached out and intercepted a Georgetown pass with the score 69-69. Bill Telasky was fouled and sank a foul shot to put G.W.

ahead for the first time in eight minutes.

The Hoyas's weren't dead yet, as Thomas Matan proved by sinking two foul shots to put GU ahead 71-70.

However, G. W. now took possession of the game. First Bash sank two free throws to put the Buff ahead 72-71, then he out-jumped GU's Sheehan to give G. W. possession of the ball. The Colonials took advantage of the situation as Guarillia sank a jump shot to make the score 74-71. G. W. didn't lose the lead again, and on a fast break by Telasky increased its lead to 76-71 with only about two minutes remaining in the game.

Sheehan Fouled

The Colonials, trying to maintain their lead almost lost it as Sheehan was fouled twice. However Sheehan missed one point, and only picked up two of the possible three. The Hoya's took the rebound from Sheehan's missed free throw, and Ray Ohlmuller scored on an outside set shot. The score at this time was 76-75 G. W.'s favor, and about one minute remained.

The Hoya's tried desperately to get the ball and pull ahead, but the Colonials were determined to keep the ball and win. Finally the GU squad deliberately fouled to get the ball. This proved to be a fatal mistake, as they chose to foul McDonald, who calmly stepped to the free throw line and picked up two points to put the Buff ahead by three.

G. W. Wins

GU worked the ball upcourt, but its shot was no good. Gene Guarillia took the all-important rebound and passed it to Telasky, who was fouled under the Colonial hoop. Telasky iced the game by sinking both shots to give the Colonials an 82-75 edge. The final buzzer rang a few seconds later, and the Colonials were mobbed by their well-wishers.

One of the deciding factors in the Georgetown game was the Colonials accuracy at the free-throw line in the closing minutes of the game when the pressure was really on. The Hoyas purposely fouled the Colonials to get possession of the ball, and the Buff men knew this as they stepped up to the line. If the Hoya strategy worked GU would gain possession of the ball and have a chance to win. By making five of a possible six shots the Colonials not only maintained their lead, but they increased it.

Buff Defense Good

The Colonials defensive play was excellent. The young (one senior, one junior, and three sophomores) Georgetown team had trouble penetrating the rugged G. W. defense and had to shoot a great deal from beyond the foul circle. The Hoyas big gun, Puddy Sheehan, who before Saturday's game sported a 25-point average was held to 13 points by G. W.'s Bash.

On offense the Colonials were able to drive in for the close shots and this undoubtedly helped the Colonials' averages. Sheehan was assigned to guard McDonald, but in spite of Puddy's efforts, McDonald, G. W.'s shot artist, came through with five field goals and seven free throws for 17 points. All five of the Colonial starters were in the double figures by the end of the game. Bash was first in the Colonial scoring parade with 21. He was closely followed by Telasky with 19, then McDonald with 17, Knisley with 11, and Guarillia with 10.

GENE GUARILLIA GOES UP . . . for a basket while teammate Sam Knisley innocently keeps out Georgetown's Ray Ohlmuller, No. 12. Big Gene scored 10 points in the Hoya game, but made a major contribution to the GW 82-75 win, by clearing the backboards. Tom Coleman, GU No. 44, goes up with Guarillia, but cannot stop the Colonial.

Colonials To Travel; Will Meet Generals

By Stan Heckman

• ON THURSDAY COACH Bill Reinhart's cagemen will invade Lexington, Virginia, for a contest with the Washington and Lee Generals.

Unless some radical change has taken place at Washington and Lee, the Colonials should find the Generals no problem at all. W and L coach, Bobby McHenry, has nothing this season to offer him even the least bit of optimism. The 1958 version of the General has even less material than the '57 edition which ended up with a 9-16 record. This year's team consists of four returning lettermen of which only two were starters last year.

Returning this year are starters Gene Girard and Mal Lassman. Girard, who stand 6'5", is the tallest man on the squad. Last year Girard scored 62 field goals in 159 attempts for 39.0%. In total points he ranked fourth with 167 but sported a mediocre 6.7 average.

Lassman's '57 record was not much better than Girard's. Lassman, who is only 5'10", had a scoring average of 6.9 with a total of 173 points. Both Girard and Lassman have a marked tendency to foul. Lassman led last year's team with 81 personal fouls while Girard, with 72, was close behind.

Pivotman

Phil Palmer is the Generals' 6'4" pivotman. Palmer, a senior, saw little action last year, and it is doubtful that he will be able to provide the much needed spark.

Jack Dougherty is the squad's number one rebounder. Dougherty, who played in only nine games last year, was fifth in rebounds with 59 to his credit. But he is also one of the Generals' most consistent foulers. He picked up 27 violations in his nine games for an average of one foul every two minutes.

The Generals lost some of their best men last year. All-American Dom Flora, Frank Hoss, and Dave Nichols all graduated last June. Flora was top scorer for W and L last year with 634 points and an average of 25.4. Hoss was second in scoring with a 14.1 point average and led the team in rebounds with 321. Nichols was third highest scorer with a 9.2 average.

The Colonial record now stands at 2-1. The Buff scored victories over Richmond and Georgetown and lost to William and Mary. Last year G. W. lost to Washington and Lee 81-70 in a late season contest, but every indication is that things will be different this year.

Following the game with W and L, the Colonials will play in the Carousel Tourney at Charlotte, N. C. Other teams participating in the tournament will be Clemson, Pitt, Davidson, Fordham, St. Francis of Pennsylvania, Bucknell, Columbia, and South Carolina.

West Virginia Loses; Virginia Wins 75-72

• THE CAVALIERS OF Virginia upset an undefeated West Virginia team Saturday night by a 75-72 margin.

Virginia, unrated in national polls and unvictorious in its last five outings, held out against a second half Mountaineer rally to score the upset of the week. Behind the accurate shooting of Paul Adkins, the Cavaliers led throughout the game. At one point in the first half the Cavaliers held an 18-point lead.

West Virginia seemed unable to get started and trailed 42-32 at the end of the half. On numerous occasions the ball got away from the Mountaineer cagemen and into the hands of anxious Cavaliers.

Toward the end of the game the Mountaineers recovered their composure, but time ran out be-

Buff Trounces Richmond, 91-67

• CENTER GENE GURAIL-LAI and guard Bill Telasky sparked the Buff cagers to a lopsided 91-67 victory over the Richmond Spiders at Uline Arena last Thursday evening. Telasky scored 23 points as he dropped in nine field goals and six free throws. Guarillia not only scored 21 points for the Colonials, but also controlled the backboards.

The Spiders started big, and midway in the first period owned an 11-10 lead. A pair of jump shots by Guarillia and Telasky put the Colonials in the lead 11-10, and there was no longer any doubt to the outcome.

The fast breaking, ball stealing Buff gained a 16-10 margin, and then soared to a 27-12 lead. Richmond had scored a mere two points while GW had sunk 20. Many times during this string of baskets the Colonials had four on three, four on two, or even four on one.

GW continued to dominate the court until halftime when they had 47-26 budge. However, in the second half Coach Bill Reinhart substituted freely. The Richmond team had to stick to its starters, and only its starters dented the scoring column.

A solid Colonial defense forced the Spiders to base their goal attempts around long shots. On the rare occasions when they did penetrate the defense, the Spiders' shots were inaccurate. Terry Willis, the Richmond pivotman, was particularly unsuccessful with his pivot jump shot.

In the early part of the game the Buff could not penetrate the defensive wall and were forced to shoot long jump and set shots.

FOUL . . . Georgetown's Ray Ohlmuller deliberately fouls Bucky McDonald late in the Saturday's thriller. This was a fatal GU mistake as Bucky sank two free throws.

HOWIE BASH . . . 6'3" junior from Fort Wayne, Indiana, sparked the Colonials to an 82-75 win over the Hoyas of Georgetown.
